CRITICAL OF SENATE ACTIONS

Senator Russell Opposes Buying Of U.N. Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee, criticizing the use of U.N. force in the Congo, said Friday he would not be disposed to favor the world body's proposed bond issue.

The Georgia Democrat's committee is expected to take up President Kennedy's proposal that the United States purchase up to half the U.N.'s scheduled $200 million bond issue.

Discussing the United Nations in an interview, Russell said when the United States "joined with Russia" in backing action against Katanga Province, Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had "the excuse he was looking for" to invade Portugal's Goa.

ENCOURAGES WAR

He said the U. N. action also encouraged Indonesian President Sukarno to threaten the use of force in his country's dispute with the Netherlands over New Guinea.

"The United Nations is a forum for discussion," Russell said. "It was never designed to determine the shape of nations of the world. If the Russians win every debate and do not pay one thin dime when they should, we'd be better off without a U. N."

In mixed reaction to the bond issue so far, chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee also has registered strong opposition to U. S. participation.

Debate on the matter is expected to open up a close examination of the entire U. N. operation and this country's role in it. Russell said he hoped this would be the case.

"I think our handling of the Katanga situation was a tragic mistake," he said. Acting U. N. Secretary General U Thant ordered the military operation following a demand by Soviet Ambassador Valerin Zorin, he added.

"In my opinion, Zorin did it to keep the U. N. off the pro-Communist Giza, where people killed those Italian fliers," he said. "That we should fall into this situation is absolutely incomprehensible to me."

State Law Is Voided By Judges

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — A federal panel declared Louisiana laws requiring segregation in bus and railway terminals unconstitutional here Friday.

The four judges prepared to issue a decree within 10 days that will knock out segregation in terminals in Ouachita, Rapides and Lincoln parishes.

Presiding Judge John R. Brown of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals said that the decision was based on the fact that the Louisiana laws interfere with interstate commerce and deny equal protection guaranteed by the 14th amendment to the constitution.

Louisiana Attorney Gen. Jack Gremillion indicated the state would appeal. The appeal would be made directly to the Supreme Court.

Earlier, the special federal tribunal dismissed a claim by Louisiana that an indispensable party was omitted from the suit that sought an end to continued terminal segregation in three Louisiana parishes.

State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion filed three motions — including one that said the Louisiana State Public Service Commission should be made a party to the suit.

The commission is the sole agency regulating intra-state commerce, Gremillion said.

The government brought suit after state judges in Rapides, Ouachita and Lincoln parishes granted injunctions that have kept terminals segregated. An Interstate Commerce Commission ruling (Continued On Page Two-A)

Three Men Die In Fiery Crash

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Three men were killed Friday when a B47 medium bomber crashed into a fence on take-off, exploded and burned at the end of a runway at nearby March Air Force Base.

Rescuers searched for a fourth body, then learned the crew chief, Sgt. Donald D. Hutkins, had stayed behind because of a cold.

The dead: Maj. Clarence W. Garrett Jr., the pilot, of Sunnyvale, Calif.; Lt. James E. Belt, copilot, of Riverside.

Snow Storm Hits Travel In Midwest

Winds Up To 73 Miles Hour Rip At Power Lines

By United Press International
A near blizzard howled across the Plains into the Middle West Friday unleashing 6 to 10 inches of snow, stalling thousands of motorists and closing hundreds of schools.

The big winter storm rode winds up to 73 miles an hour as it blocked highways, ripped down power lines, fashioned a Paul Bunyan-sized traffic pileup and played havoc with air travel.

MICHIGAN HIT

Another winter storm, plunging down from Canada, turned Michigan highways into a motorist's nightmare and piled 6 inches of snow on northern Wisconsin.

Temperatures plunged to 23 below zero at Bemidji, Minn., and 19 below at Grand Forks, N. D. It "warmed up" to 11 below at Grand Forks in mid-afternoon.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau said "near blizzard conditions" raked the Missouri Valley region. The storm spread south and east through Missouri, speared across southern Iowa and pushed into Illinois with freezing rain.

Ten inches of snow hit sections of northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri. Eastern Oklahoma got up to 8 inches. Kansas City had more than 7 inches.

Thousands of motorists were stalled during the day in Oklahoma alone. One hundred others were stranded for four hours on a 60-mile stretch of highway near snow-bogged Childress, Tex.

Brantford and American Airlines cancelled all flights in and out of Oklahoma City until Saturday when the storm was expected to subside.

Almost 500 rural telephones were thrown out of service in the Texas Panhandle and south Plains when poles and lines were crushed by snow, ice and winds.

Minuteman Speeds To Target In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States got its 1962 missile test-firing program off to a good start Friday, sending one of its vital new weapons, the push-button Minuteman, on a 3,200-mile flight after launching it from an underground pit.

The three-stage Minuteman sent the first big noise of the new year rumbling over the Cape as it burst from the 85-foot-deep silo with a rush of smoke and flame and streaked to its target.

Officials termed it a "hot flight" in which the missile was subjected to maximum temperatures and aerodynamic loads. The Air Force reported the rocket performed without a hitch in registering its third straight successful flight after a subterranean firing.

Board Releases Dietzel To Army

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Paul Dietzel, moulder of grid powerhouses at Louisiana State in recent years, Friday won a release from his contract so he could take over as Army's head coach.

COACH PAUL DIETZEL

Dietzel, 37, said he and four assistants will go to West Point Sunday to negotiate and sign a contract.

A fifth LSU assistant, Charles McClendon, appeared headed for the top football coaching job at Kentucky, his alma mater.

ONLY DECISION

"In my heart," Dietzel, under fire for leaving LSU, told a news conference, "I think it (the move) was the only decision I could make."

He coached at Army under Col. Earl (Red) Blaik three years and was one of Blaik's favorites when he came here.

"You can't be at West Point and not have something rub off on you," he said.

Recommendation that a full-time Civil Defense administrator be hired for Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita Parish will be made to the parish Police Jury here next week.

Leslie Hamm, chairman of the Civil Defense Committee of the jury, made this announcement here last night as the highlight of a meeting to discuss local and parish civil defense needs.

PLAN BUDGET

Hamm, member of the Police Jury from ward 5, said that his committee will recommend that Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery, Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard and West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris meet "to work out a program to hire a full-time CD administrator" for Monroe, West Monroe and the parish.

The proposal will be submitted Wednesday at a meeting of the jury.

Excessive Pay Is Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. servicemen at a French air base received $2.3 million too much from excessive housing allowances paid between 1956 and 1960, the Government Accounting Office said Friday.

In a report to Congress, the GAO said that, after its findings were shown to the Defense Department, housing allowances for servicemen at the base were reduced by $75,000 a year.

Lock, Dam Decision Expected

Decision on the location of a lock and dam system on the Black River in the Jonesville area is expected to be made sometime in February, it was learned yesterday.

"We hope to have a decision on the location of the locks within the next three to six weeks," Col. W. S. Everett, district engineer of the Vicksburg, Miss., District U. S. Corps of Engineers, told the Morning World late Friday.

"We hope to get a decision on the matter as soon as possible to avoid any further delay of the project," Col. Everett pointed out.

"When the decision on the location is made, then we will be in position to go ahead with our detailed designing for the project," he added.

Decision to be made by the U. S. Corps of Engineers is whether the location of the lock and dam system will be north or south of Jonesville.

"Studies on the matter are nearing completion," Col. Everett said.

Col. Everett also indicated that it has not been determined whether or not a public hearing will be held before the decision is made.

"We anticipate that the final decision on the location of the locks (Continued On Page Two-A)

Army Orders Cutback In Draft Calls

Military Buildup Manpower Goals Reported Reached

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has cut sharply its draft calls for the next two months because it has reached its manpower goals, including personnel to man two new regular divisions ordered activated this week.

The Defense Department announced on Friday a February draft call of 8,000 men and one for March of 6,000, all for the Army. The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to ask the Selective Service for any draftees.

HIT PEAK

The March figure is the same as that for last July before the threat to Berlin set off quick reinforcement of U. S. military strength. The draft quota rose to 13,000 in August and hit a peak of 25,000 in September. They have been easing off since.

One big factor in reaching the "strength objective," the department said, was a big jump in voluntary enlistments — a 20 per cent improvement.

Half of the manpower increase during the buildup has come from inductions. This figure does not include the callup of 19,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists in that period.

In the year preceding the build-up draft calls averaged about 5,000 a month. They reached a low earlier this year when the April call was for 1,500 and no calls were issued for May and June.

Army strength at the start of December was 1,062,582, including the National Guardsmen and Reservists called up for a year. The regular Army thus was about 943,000. Before the buildup began last summer the Army totalled about 870,000.

Officials said the new draft calls are expected to keep the regular Army at somewhat below the million mark. They declined to give specific figures for the months ahead, saying the totals are tied in with the military (Continued On Page Two-A)

OAS May Ask Castro To End Ties With Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has prepared a draft resolution which proposes that Latin American foreign ministers give Fidel Castro's Cuban regime 30 days to break its Communist ties or face collective measures.

Informed sources said the proposal was outlined in a memorandum circulated among several Latin American governments this week.

The plan is to submit it—possibly with some revisions—to the hemispheric foreign ministers conference scheduled for Jan. 22 at Punta Del Este, Uruguay.

The U. S. proposal is a strengthened version of a Colombian draft resolution which merely would ask Castro to break his Communist ties and abide by existing treaties.

Diplomats who have seen the U. S. proposal told United Press International it would "urge" the Castro government to break its ties with Communist bloc nations. If Castro refused, the Council of the Organization of American States would turn itself into an "organ of consultation" to apply sanctions.

1,500 LEFT HOMELESS

Lethal Tornado Hits In Florida

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (AP) — A tornado roaring in ahead of a cold front battered Crestview late Friday, leaving a baby crushed to death and at least 30 other persons injured.

More than 300 homes were damaged and 50 house trailers destroyed by the twister which gouged out a path three miles long through the northwest Florida city. An estimated 1,500 persons were left homeless, to seek refuge in emergency shelters.

Ten of the injured were reported in serious condition. Ambulances rushed to the stricken farming and livestock community from nearby cities.

STRIKES

The storm also struck nearby Destin, Fla., and lashed the Florida Panhandle community of Paxton. No one was reported injured at Destin and damage was reported only slight.

Telephone communications to Crestview were disrupted and power lines were torn down. Two fires broke out in the wake of the howling windstorm, one believed touched off by lightning, the other by sleeping gas.

Gov. Farris Bryant at Tallahassee ordered a 95-man National Guard unit to rescue duty and the Florida Highway Patrol rushed in medical supplies to the city.

Surrounding communities also sent help. The sheriff's office at Pensacola, 65 miles to the south, rushed five cars to Crestview, and the Escambia County search and rescue unit, also at Pensacola, was mobilized. Another rescue unit was en route from Andalusia, Ala., about 45 miles to the north.

AFTER 43 YEARS

Woman Will Reap Good Deed Reward

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The neighborly deed of bringing hot soup to an ailing man 43 years ago is reaping its return for Mrs. Elmer Schumaker of Pompano Beach, Fla.

She will be named beneficiary of the $12,000 estate of Richard Tyler of suburban Cincinnati. Tyler, who said doctors treating him for a heart ailment have given him up to 18 months to live, has been searching for his ex-Dayton neighbor for the past week.

He found her Friday through the efforts of the Dayton Daily News. A story in the newspaper brought information from former Dayton friends of the Schumakers.

"I don't have much, but I'd like to have it. I've always felt a debt of gratitude," Tyler explained earlier this week.

"I'm so grateful to the press and I don't know how to express my thanks for all they did," he said.

Within a few minutes after Mrs. Schumaker was located she talked with Tyler by telephone. She said she was "flabbergasted" when she received a call from a Dayton friend Thursday night. "I didn't believe it at first," Mrs. Schumaker recalled helping care for Tyler back in 1919 when he suffered from a brain fever. "He was all alone and in a coma part of the time," she said.

The Schumakers moved from Dayton in 1955. They managed a motel near Miami Beach until 2 1/2 years ago, when because of Mr. Schumaker's poor health, they moved to Pompano Beach.

SEC Report Hits Laxity Of Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Stock Exchange was accused by federal investigators Friday of permitting "manifest and prolonged abuses" of laws and rules designed to protect the investing public.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, capping a seven-month investigation of the nation's second largest stock exchange, issued a 127-page report which contended the exchange has been dominated by a four-man oligarchy.

SHARP CRITICISM

It said the dominant group has included Joseph F. Reilly, who currently heads the exchange as president pro tem.

A broad sampling of exchange members—and even the SEC itself—came in for sharp criticism in what was perhaps the most explosive report ever issued by the 27-year-old commission.

At a news conference, Milton H. Cohen, director of the probe, indicated the SEC will take action against some of those cited as responsible for alleged abuses.

There is "certainly some possibility of action," Cohen said, against Gilligan, Will & Co., whose activities occupied many pages of the report.

The report noted that some or all the questioned activities were "not unique" to Gilligan, Will & Co., but Cohen declined to speculate whether the probe to date would result in a whole series of SEC actions.

There may have been criminal violations in the activities studied, Cohen said, but he added he had no responsibility for such follow-ups under the terms of his investigation.

Cohen declined also to answer (Continued On Page Two-A)

Gen. Clay Says Reports False On Policy Rift

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay arrived in Washington Friday denying any split with Secretary of State Dean Rusk over the amount of authority the U. S. Berlin commander should have to act on his own.

President Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, who sees Rusk Saturday and Kennedy Sunday, lost no time at National Air- port in denying to newsmen a published report that he thinks the State Department holds too tight a rein on the U. S. military in West Berlin.

"No, it just isn't so," Clay said. "I'm not conscious of any difference of opinion between the secretary of state and myself."

While remaining vague on whether he thinks the instructions to the U. S. armed forces in Berlin are adequate, Clay said the local commander should have authority to make a decision on the spot if the crisis is serious enough and his troops are endangered.

"I do not know of any case where the local commander has not had the responsibility," he said.

Clay, U. S. commander in Germany during the 1948-49 Berlin airlift, said he is here to brief Kennedy, Rusk and others on the Berlin situation. He said Rusk himself suggested the visit when the secretary of state was in Europe last month.

Defense Planning Aired At Meeting

Dr. Calvin B. Folds, mayor of Sterlington, also will be invited to participate in the CD planning.

Action by the committee came after Col. Frank Spiess, deputy Louisiana Civil Defense director, recommended at last night's meeting that one of the first steps in organizing a CD program here should be the hiring of a full-time administrator.

Col. Spiess, of New Orleans, was the principal speaker at the meeting Friday night held in the Police Jury room of the court-house.

In addition to hiring a full-time administrator, Col. Spiess emphasized the need for an "initial plan" in regard to a CD program.

In drawing up your initial system to alert the people of an area, make sure that it is also a "workable plan," he cautioned, "regardless of system; to communications; to a how simple it is."

Col. Spiess also pointed out that the full-time administrator need not be a Civil Defense expert, but rather a man "qualified to coordinate the program and who would be willing to put in a lot of man hours on the job."

Robert H. Evans, chairman of the Twin City Civil Defense Committee, later offered the suggestion that it would be better "if the full-time administrator was technically qualified as a Civil Defense expert."

Evans also raised the question that "a retired army officer would be more qualified for the job than an average citizen, especially if the officer had had several years of CD experience."

Col. Spiess agreed that a retired officer would be ideal for the position.

Evans also admonished the group not to let a "model plan" take the place of a "thorough, comprehensive Civil Defense plan."

Maj. Gen. George W. Trousdale, head of the local national guard unit, told the group that he had a recommendation on the full-time administrator to make at a later time.

"We probably have the talent here in our own community," Col. Spiess pointed out. "I have seen a person in mind living right here in the parish who is a recently retired army officer. This man is qualified to do the job."

In regard to financial aid for the Civil Defense program, Col. Spiess pointed out that "there is a law in which the federal government provides assistance to political sub-divisions to defray part of the expenses for the operation of a CD office, with the aid not to exceed the amount made available by the community."

Col. Spiess also said that his office would assist the parish in applying for the federal assistance if this type program was desired locally.

In answer to the question, Col. Spiess pointed out that Caddo and Bossier Parishes have a combined Civil Defense setup with headquarters in Shreveport and with an operating budget of $32,000. He also said that the Caddo-Bossier unit is financed locally and is not in the federal participation program.

Discussing the Civil Defense needs locally, Col. Spiess pointed out that "although it is not that E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital

However, no Monroe officers have been dispatched, according to the Chief.

The family has offered a reward of $500 for information leading to his location.

Relative's informant, visiting a relative in Houston, is reported to have spoken briefly with Marsala in that city's bus terminal. The man boarded a bus to return to Monroe shortly after the meeting. He said he was unable to get information from Marsala as to his plans.

Kelly said the man had worked for sub-contractors on construction jobs handled by Marsala's firm and knew the general contractor well. He added that he had little reason to doubt the story of sightings in Alexandria and Houston, but that investigation into leads in other areas would continue.

"Under the federal contribution program, Monroe and West Monroe have acquired 44 pieces of communications equipment — mainly radios, electric generating plants and antenna. This equipment was acquired at about one-half its value of $30,000.

"Our agency is in the process of setting up an Area 4 emergency operating center in the old fire station in Monroe, thanks to its availability by Mayor (W. L.) Howard.

"The Department of Defense soon will begin a shelter survey in this area. Places selected will be equipped and provisioned."

Hamm presided at last night's meeting. Other members of his Police Jury Civil Defense committee are F. G. (Red) Studdard of ward 1, Leland T. Carpenter of ward 2, W. O. Roberts of ward 7, and Irvin W. Kilpatrick of ward 10.

The meeting here last night came as a result of recommendations by the Twin Cities Civil Defense Committee that retired Army Col. Jack C. Gault work out a survival plan for the parish.

SEC Report Hits Laxity Of Officials

a reporter's question whether the SEC had been "remiss" in not moving in on the dealings criticized, but he said: "We point out a few places where SEC might have done something it didn't do, or might have been more vigilant."

In a letter transmitting copies of the report to officials of the American Stock Exchange, known to Wall Streeters as the Amex, the SEC said: "It will be evident from a reading of the report that it raises serious questions for the commission and for the exchange community, and calls for prompt and vigorous action."

Reilly, who has agreed not to seek re-election as chairman of the Amex board of governors and as president pro tem, said he had not seen the report and added in New York: "There will be no comment from the American Stock Exchange at this time. We must first receive the report. We must then devote considerable time to a thorough study of its contents."

Reilly said Amex had publicly welcomed the SEC investigation and added that both he and the exchange as well as its member firms had cooperated with the commission.

The SEC report accused the exchange of tolerating lax management and said that if it does not act quickly to adopt broad reforms "the commission must be prepared to exercise its supervisory powers."

Without saying so directly, the report hinted that reforms already initiated, while commendable, may not go far enough.

Backing up the report were massive files—still secret—which were compiled by the SEC in its hush-hush inquiry.

These files are being studied, the commission told the exchange, "to determine what action the commission is required."

Implicit in many of the report's disclosures was a hint of official proceedings later against a number of exchange members.

The investigation was prompted by an SEC finding last May that two prominent Amex "indicators," Jerry and Gerard Re, had engaged in multiple manipulations and illegal stock sales totaling more than $10 million. The Re's, father and son, were ordered expelled by the SEC and are now awaiting grand jury action on federal criminal charges.

Amex officials have contended that the wrongdoings attributed to the Re's were isolated violations. But the report prepared by the SEC staff said: "The manifold and prolonged abuses by specialists and floor traders and other instances of misconduct described in this report make it clear that the problem goes beyond isolated violations and amounts to a general deficiency of standards and a fundamental failure of controls."

Coming in for particular criticism were some of those who had managed the exchange, certain specialists who conduct daily auctions in various securities, and a number of floor traders who use their Amex memberships to speculate with their own funds.

One lengthy section was devoted exclusively to the activities of the big specialist firm of Gilligan, Will & Co. James Gilligan, formerly the senior partner, sold his exchange seat last April but, the SEC said, retains a major interest in the firm's profits.

In 1956, Gilligan, Will & Co. participated in what the SEC later ruled was an illegal distribution of debentures of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. The penalty imposed by the commission was a five-day suspension from the National Association of Securities Dealers.

In criticizing its own action, the SEC's report said: "This penalty was hardly a deterrent to future violations of the kind and extent described here, particularly since the specialist is not dependent upon NASD membership for his livelihood."

Board Releases Dietzel To Army

far as I am concerned."

Dietzel said it wasn't as though he were leaving a sinking ship at LSU. The university has a good general staff and the athletic program is operating on a sound basis, he said.

Dietzel said he recommended McClendon for the Kentucky job and "I think he will be head coach either at LSU or Kentucky." He added, "I have a spot for him (at Army) but I don't think he can afford to go."

Athletic director Jim Corbett left with four assistants on the football coaching staff, was handed the job of recommending successors to Dietzel and his assistants at LSU.

The LSU board of supervisors put up a hard fight to keep the youthful head coach who gave the color and power to teams in recent years and had just brought home a 25-7 Orange Bowl victory over Colorado.

After a closed session of several hours, the LSU board voted again Dietzel's request that the $18,500 contract with four years left be severed.

The board then voted unanimously to approve the request.

Dietzel admitted a statement he made at a banquet a few months ago that he would never coach at another school turned out to be false.

But when the offer from Army cropped up, he said, "I just couldn't turn it down."

The four assistants going to Army with Dietzel are:

George Terry, who will head the defense and coach the defensive line.

Larry Jones, who will coach the defensive line.

Charles Peavy, who will be in charge of the offense and will coach the offensive backs.

Bill Shalowsky, who will work with the offensive line.

He will also take along his three-team system.

Dietzel, whose LSU grid powerhouse lured Louisiana scholastic grid stars like Notre Dame squads of yesteryear, told an alumni banquet a few months ago: "I love LSU, and I'll never leave for another coaching job."

LSU signed Dietzel 7 years ago when he was an assistant coach at Army.

At West Point, Col. Emory S. Adams, Army athletic director, said he was "elated" at the news.

Adams said he expected Dietzel to come to the Point Saturday or Sunday before going to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) meetings. They open in Chicago Monday.

Army, which fired head coach Dale Hall after the 1961 season, told Dietzel he'd have to get his walking papers from LSU before it took him on.

Gremillion said if the report or the terminals to remove the signs, the companies will be faced with a dilemma. The PSC has an order — not connected with any law under attack — which requires maintenance of segregated facilities.

U. S. Justice Dept. Atty. St. John Barrett of Washington said the state claim is invalid even if the PSC is affected by the court decision.

"Passengers will be affected by the decision also," Barrett argued. "But it is not necessary to enjoin each of them. We assume that the Public Service Commission and the state officials would not take lightly any order of this court."

Grove Stafford Sr., attorney for Continental Southern Trailways, urged the court to instruct the busy company what to do in the event the court prohibits the company from posting segregation signs.

Hearing the case were U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals judges John R. Brown of Houston and John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans and District Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. of Shreveport.

Amex officials have contended that the wrongdoings attributed to the Re's were isolated violations. But the report prepared by the SEC staff said: "The manifold and prolonged abuses by specialists and floor traders and other instances of misconduct described in this report make it clear that the problem goes beyond isolated violations and amounts to a general deficiency of standards and a fundamental failure of controls."

Coming in for particular criticism were some of those who had managed the exchange, certain specialists who conduct daily auctions in various securities, and a number of floor traders who use their Amex memberships to speculate with their own funds.

One lengthy section was devoted exclusively to the activities of the big specialist firm of Gilligan, Will & Co. James Gilligan, formerly the senior partner, sold his exchange seat last April but, the SEC said, retains a major interest in the firm's profits.

In 1956, Gilligan, Will & Co. participated in what the SEC later ruled was an illegal distribution of debentures of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co. The penalty imposed by the commission was a five-day suspension from the National Association of Securities Dealers.

In criticizing its own action, the SEC's report said: "This penalty was hardly a deterrent to future violations of the kind and extent described here, particularly since the specialist is not dependent upon NASD membership for his livelihood."

Police Catch Henley; Held In Robbery

BOSSIER CITY (Special)—Kenneth Henley, 25, of Shreveport, was held Friday as a suspect in the Wednesday armed robbery of the Cedar Grove A&P Supermarket in Shreveport.

Henley, who was sentenced to five years in the State Pen at Angola for aiding "Trash Can Dan" Robertson's escape in a garbage barrel from the Ouachita Parish Jail, was quoted as saying "I ain't stole nothing."

Henley escaped from the Charity Hospital in New Orleans where he was confined after being involved in a fight in the prison.

Robertson is presently serving a 20 year-sentence for the armed robbery of the Orange Street Seven Eleven Store in Monroe.

Henley was taken into custody at a motel and offered no resistance although until officers drew their guns, he ran for a short distance.

Await Arrival Of Adjuster To Set Fire Damage

GRAMBLING (Special)—Grambling College officials Friday were awaiting the arrival of an adjuster from Baton Rouge to determine damages in Thursday's nights fire and water damage to books in the Negro institution's library here.

A fire of undetermined origin damaged a portion of the library and water damage ruined a number of books, estimated at between 40,000 and 50,000.

Students at the college formed a human chain in the driving rain to a nearby women's dormitory and passed out many of the volumes, according to R. W. E. Jones, president of Grambling.

He praised the students for their action, in addition to the Grambling Volunteer Fire Department and the Ruston Fire Department.

Solon Assails U.S. Policy On Aviation Fuel

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., said Friday it is time the federal government refuses to furnish aviation fuel to small airlines unless they pay for it.

The Pennsylvania Democrat charged that some airlines have been getting free aviation fuel from the Air Force by refusing to pay their bills at military bases.

Walter said one supplemental airline, now bankrupt, owes the federal government $212,304, including $108,497 for aviation fuel and oil.

The Air Force has a list of 28 other delinquent accounts totaling $76,670 owed the government for aviation fuel and oil, according to Walter. Nine of these airlines have gone bankrupt.

Walter said all of these accounts have been reported to the General Accounting Office (GAO) as "administratively uncollectible."

Burglars Take Only $20 In Drugstore Theft

Burglars broke into the Lakeshore Pharmacy sometime between Thursday night and Friday morning but took less than $20 in cash and no narcotics.

The pharmacy, located in the Lakeshore Shopping Center, was entered through a vent in the top of the building. A hole was then broken through the ceiling of the pharmacy.

The burglary is being investigated by the Ouachita parish sheriff's department.

Very little was damaged in the store, except the ceiling and hasp on the rear door, through which the parties left, Walter Pierron, co-owner of the Pharmacy, said.

Pierron said no narcotics were missing and as far as he could determine, the merchandise was intact during a preliminary check.

Monroe police are investigating an attempted burglary on another pharmacy in which entrance was not gained. The attempt was made on Ussery's Pharmacy which is located in the Wright-Bendel Clinic.

Madison Won't Run For State Education Board

Bobby C. Wilson of West Monroe announced Friday that he will be a candidate for the State Board of Education post from this district.

This followed on the statement by current member George T. Madison of Bastrop that he will not seek re-election next fall. He has been on the Board from the Fifth District for 32 years.

"I think it's a little early to make an announcement, but I will not run," said Madison. "I've told the school people that for some time now."

Wilson has taught physical education at West Monroe High School for the past nine years. He is a Lions Club member, and is married, with two children.

The post he seeks is an eight-year term.

A rumored candidate for another Board post is Fred Huenefeld Jr., vice chairman of the State Board of Welfare. He was Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' campaign manager in this district during the 1960 election.

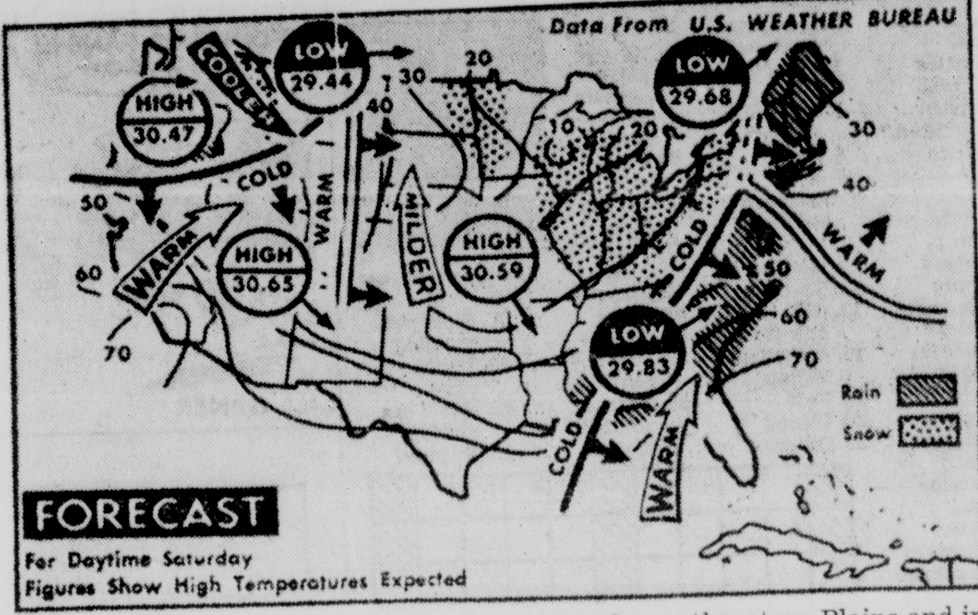

Huenefeld is said to be under consideration to succeed Joe D. Waggoner of Plain Dealing on the State Board of Education. Waggoner was elected to the U.S. Congress.

Ouachita Tournament Finals Played Tonight

Rebels Meet Neville 5 In Semi-Finals

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Semi-final and final action in boys and girls play is set for today as the curtain falls on the annual Ouachita High Invitational Basketball Tournament.

West Monroe tackles Neville at 12:30 p.m. in one boys semi-final, while Eros tangles with Grayson at 1:45 in the other.

The winners meet at 9 for the championship and the losers play at 6:30 for consolation honors.

In the girls semi-finals Neville battles Grayson at 10 a.m. Winnboro meets Ouachita in the other tilt at 11:15.

Girls consolation are at 5:15 p.m. with the finals at 7:45.

First and second all-tournament teams in both boys and girls divisions will be named following the tourney. Selections will be made by the game officials.

Grayson defeated Ouachita, 39-50, last night in the boys wrap-up game for the second day after Eros topped St. Matthews' 52-45 in the first game and Neville smashed Chatham, 67-27, in the second.

Yesterday's girls action saw Grayson crumple St. Matthews' 49-17 in the first game. In the second game Neville's girls downed Chatham, 64-51.

GRAYSON RESURGES

Grayson fought back to win in the final period after trailing for three quarters in the final last night. A 16-point barrage coupled with a complete collapse of Ouachita's offensive machine was enough to turn the trick. The Lions were able to manage only four points in the final period and this erased their slim 46-34 third period advantage.

A 21 point scoring effort by Lewis Kennedy paced Grayson and the Warriors were also able to put three other men in double figures. Delano Tower was second with 16 while Bill Frazier and James Mixon tied for third with 10 apiece.

Garland Shipp was Ouachita's high scorer with 19. He was closely followed by James Edgar with 18. Ouachita put no one else in double figures.

Ouachita jumped off to a 15-9 first quarter lead, but were outscored in each of the three following periods. The Lions led 32-28 at the half, and 46-34 after three quarters.

Neither team missed through the first four shots of the game and after four minutes the score was tied 4-4.

At 3:50 Shipp put Ouachita ahead 6-4 on a long jumper and the Lions did not trail again until the final period.

Four points by Edgar gave the Lions a 12-7 lead at 1:50 and a field goal and foul shot by Shipp made it 15-9 in Ouachita's favor when the quarter ended.

Mixon hit three long corner shots to pull Grayson to 17-15 at 6:30 in the second quarter but the Lions forged back on ver-satile attack and the Warriors didn't get close again until 2:30 when they shut the margin to 26-25. At this point Edgar and Shipp went on a scoring binge that kept the Lions in front 32-28 at the half.

Twin foul shots by Kennedy closed the gap back to six points at 41-35 with 3:30 to go in the third quarter after Ouachita had led by even greater margins earlier.

At 2:20 a field goal by Tower shaved the Lions' advantage to three points, 42-39, but Shipp quickly hit two to quiet the flurry.

Still, the Warriors cut Ouachita's lead to three points by the end of the period and trailed only 46-43.

Towers cut the lead to a single point at 7:35 in the fourth quarter and seconds later he showed Grayson in front 47-46 with another field goal.

With 6:50 to play he added a crisp shot for a three point lead, 49-46.

Ouachita rallied late in the quarter with a two pointer by Donnie Lettermann bringing the home-standers to within three points, 52-49 with 1:55 remaining, and at 1:25 Edgar added a foul shot to make a 52-50.

But that was the last score Ouachita was to make, while Grayson went on a seven-point spree that shoved the contest out of reach and assured the Warriors a place in today's semi-finals.

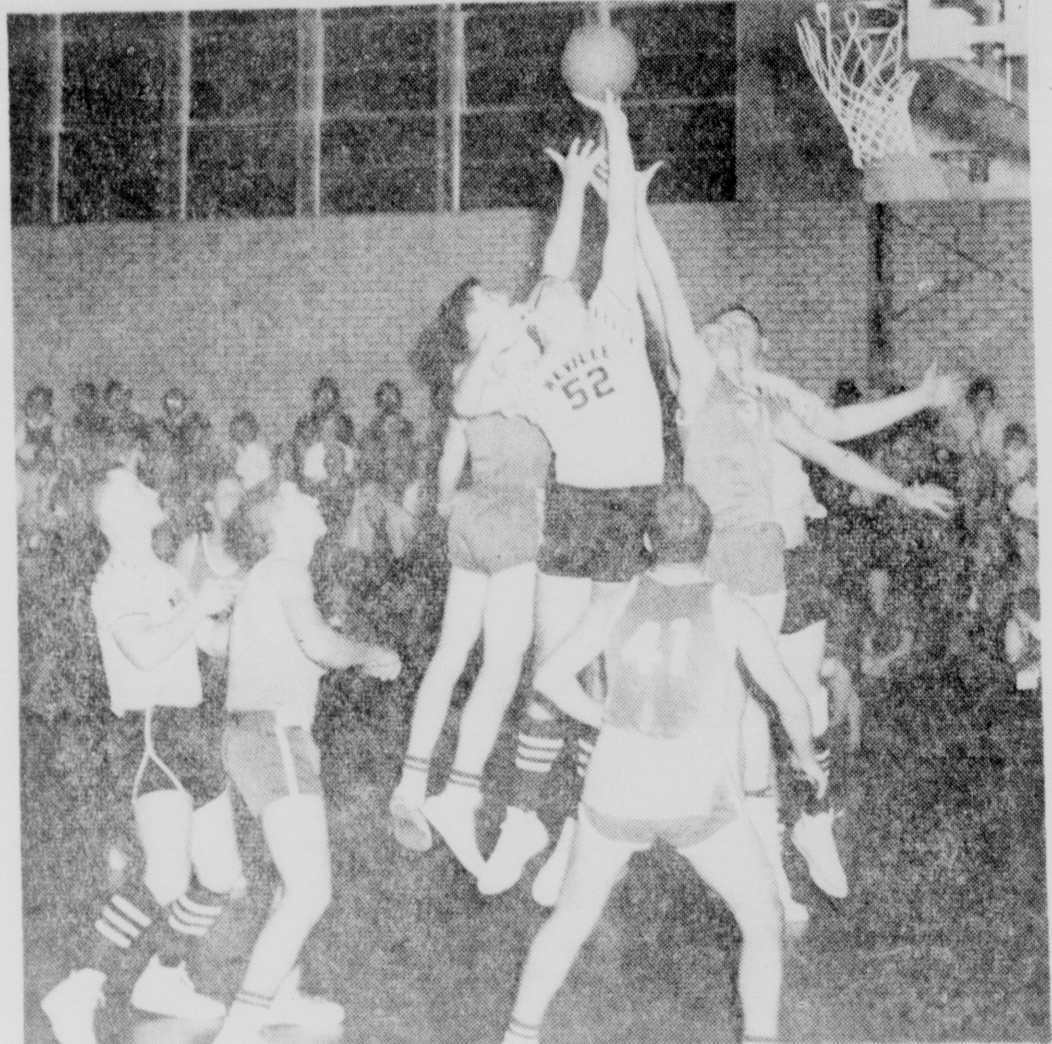

GIRLS GAMES

Yvonne May scored 25 points to pace Grayson's girls to their win over St. Matthews' Georgetown Varino hit nine for the losers.

In the Neville girls game, Carolyn Courson and Pam O'Donnell teamed up to outdo a superlative effort by Chatham's Lou Ann Simons.

Carolyn canned 22 points and Pam 21, while Lou Ann hit 41 for Chatham.

OUACHITA TOURNAMENT

Neville Tigers Roll, 67-27; Meet WM In Semi-Finals

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

The Neville Tigers advanced to the semi-finals of the Ouachita Invitational Basketball Tournament last night with an easy 67-27 victory over Chatham.

Coach George Davis' crew will carry a 14-1 mark into today's semi-final tilt against West Monroe at 12:30 o'clock.

Last night's game was nothing more than a warmup for the Tigers and Chatham was barely "easy pickings" that it barely even served that purpose.

Neville's starting five, Frank Keith, Truett Nolan, Randy Fain, Dave Christianson, and Joel Canol played less than 12 minutes the entire game.

They started and played the whole first period, sat out the second quarter, started the third and played about three minutes, then sat out the rest of the game.

Actually there was no need for them to show up at all. The second and third teams of Neville continued the heavy assault and provided the top scorer in the game - Bill Spinks, who popped in 14 points.

Keith and Nolan both chipped in 10 points during their short time in the game, and could have easily had more if they desired.

Chatham's loss was certainly not due to lack of hustle. The Eagles kept fighting the entire game but they couldn't cope with the taller, more experienced Tigers.

Chatham didn't have a starter over 5'11" but still came off the boards with tough rebounds several times.

Howard Chatham poked in three set shots from out front and added a free throw to lead the losers.

Neville took the opening tip and Keith got the scoring started with only five seconds gone when he laid in a crisp shot.

He then hit again on a jump shot out front to up the lead to 4-0 with 7:00 left.

Canol connected at 6:35, and Chatham finally got in the scoring column at 6:04 on Jim Bo Tolar's gratis toss.

Christianson flipped in a jump shot to put Neville ahead 8-1 and Keith hit two free throws 3:55 for a 10-1 lead.

Nolan found the range at 3:18 for his first two pointer of the night and Canol popped in a gratis toss for a 13-1 lead.

The Eagles finally got their first field goal of the night with 1:15 remaining in the first period on Chatham's set shot.

Tommy Tidwell connected on another fielder seconds later, but that was all the Eagles could muster in the initial period and was out front, 22-5.

With reserves playing the whole second period, the scoring eased up and at halftime the scoreboard read 30-9 in favor of Neville.

The Tigers came out firing in the last half and by the end of the third quarter they led, 47-16. Chatham had its biggest quarter of the game in the fourth but it still managed only 11 points while Neville was rushing for 20 points.

Grayson defeated Ouachita, 39-50, last night in the boys wrap-up game for the second day after Eros topped St. Matthews' 52-45 in the first game and Neville smashed Chatham, 67-27, in the second.

Paul Dietzel's Techniques Influenced By 3 Coaches

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Paul Dietzel, who gave up his post at Louisiana State Friday to become head football coach at Army, has had his coaching techniques strongly influenced by three men — Earl (Red) Blaik, Paul (Bear) Bryant and Sid Gillman.

Dietzel served as an assistant to Blaik at Army before he came to LSU in 1955. Before that, he was on the staffs of Bryant, coach of Alabama's 1961 college cham-

From the local point of view pertaining to LSU Head Coach Paul Dietzel's leaving the school, one who should definitely have some feelings on the subject is West Monroe grider, Butch Lohrno, who has signed an athletic scholarship to LSU.

When asked what his thoughts were about Dietzel's leaving, Lohrno said, "Of course we all hate to see him leave because of the great success his teams have had, but there is no reason, for LSU's success to stop now."

Lohrno expressed hope that assistant coach Charlie McClendon would be given the head coaching job. "I feel that McClendon is as good as Dietzel and with him LSU could win the national championship again."

McClendon Ace

Candidate For Tiger Grid Post

BATON ROUGE, (Special)—Ever since Paul Dietzel's resignation as Louisiana State head football coach was formally accepted here yesterday the big question has been, who will take his place?

A number of observers at the University feel it may be Charles Y. McClendon, his chief assistant, that is, if McClendon doesn't take the head coaching job at the University of Kentucky.

McClendon left Baton Rouge yesterday for an interview with Kentucky officials about the job left open when Blanton Collier was fired earlier this week.

If McClendon does not wind-up in the Kentucky job, he'll be the first choice of LSU Athletic Director Jim Corbett. When the Dietzel question broke, Corbett indicated his preference for McClendon should Dietzel, an ex-Army assistant, return to West Point. Corbett said he would definitely ask that McClendon be named head coach.

McClendon's Kentucky ties stem from his collegiate career. He played at Magnolia Junior college in Arkansas and then at the Lexington school during the 1947-50 period as a defensive end.

Should he stay with the Tigers, the defensive strength for which LSU teams have been noted during the Dietzel era may continue. McClendon's primary duties with LSU have been with the defensive line.

McClendon came to Louisiana State in 1953. Prior to that time he was an assistant at Kentucky in 1951 and served in a similar capacity at Vanderbilt in 1952.

The amiable chief Tigers assistant is married and the father of two children, a daughter, Delores Kaye, age 11 and a son, Charles Scott, age three.

Mattie Miller collected 14 and Linda Crow 13 for Forest while Elaine Reese was high for Monticello with 10.

It is believed that one of the reasons Dietzel left a lucrative contract at LSU to take the Army job is that West Point cadets most nearly fill Dietzel's conception of the ideal athlete. Dietzel unconsciously gave his Army attachment when he once said of his undefeated 1958, national championship eleven: "It is equal to any West Point

Fast, Heavy South Senior Bowl Pick

By STAN ATKINS
MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A slightly faster and heavier South squad is favored by a touchdown over the North team in Saturday's nationally televised all-star Senior Bowl football game.

Despite rains Friday, a fairly fast field was indicated. Clearing weather, northerly winds of 15 to 20 miles per hour and temperatures in the low 50s were forecast for the 2 p.m. CST, kickoff. An estimated 38,000 fans are expected in the 40,600-capacity Ladd Stadium.

The game matches 50 of the top college seniors in the nation. They will be turning pro. The winners will receive over-the-counter payments of $600 each and the losing squadsmen $500 each.

Forty-four of the 50 already have been drafted or have signed with pro teams of the National or American Football Leagues.

The South coach, Webb Ewbanks of the Baltimore Colts, will use a three-end system in order to utilize the service of All-America end Bill Miller of Miami as a flanker back.

Offensively, the Southerners to watch are quarterback Mike Cotten (23) of Texas or his sub, Billy Canty (15) of Furman; the flanker, Miller (82); Ronnie Bull (40), the powerful Baylor back; and 220-pound Earl Gros (33) of LSU.

A big but mobile Rebel offensive line is headed up by tackles Billy Neighbors (74) of Alabama's national championship team; and Ronnie Osborne (77) of Clemson, biggest man on the field at 6-4 and 278 pounds.

Anchoring the South defensive line will be middle linebacker Mike Lucci (5) of Tennessee; and a latecomer, Bill Hudson, 260-pound Memphis State tackle. Hudson is replacing Pete Case, a Georgia tackle who re-injured a knee during practice.

Quarterback Ed Wilson (15) of Arizona, who has the best offensive record of all the quarterbacks, is the key man in the North offense coached by Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

Wilson earned 1,294 yards and 10 touchdowns during the past season with 79 completions in 154 pass attempts. His running mates are halfbacks Tom Larsecheid (13) of Utah State and Jim Dillard (20) of Oklahoma State, and fullback Steve Simms (21) of Rutgers.

Utah State's Clark Miller, a 6-5, 250-pounder, is the Yankee defensive captain.

The South pulled up to a 7-5 margin in the series last year with a 33-26 thriller.

Football Dies Hard; Still 6 Games To Go

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Football dies hard. Five more games are scheduled this week-end, involving top professionals and aspiring young pros-to-be, and even then the season isn't fully spent.

Still to come is the National Football League's Pro Bowl game, between Eastern and Western all-stars, in Los Angeles Jan. 14.

The basketball and ice hockey seasons are halfway over and baseball men are preparing for the spring camps, but the helmeted, cleated athletes are still racing across our television screens.

Two games are scheduled Saturday and three Sunday, four of them on national television networks.

The program:

SATURDAY
National Football League Run-nerup Bowl at Miami, Fla. (Philadelphia Eagles vs. Detroit Lions) (CBS-TV, 2 p.m. EST).

Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala. (NBC-TV, 3 p.m. EST).

SUNDAY
American Football League all-star game at San Diego, Calif. (ABC-TV, 3:30 p.m. EST).

U.S. Bowl at Washington, D.C. (NBC-TV, 2 p.m. EST).

Hula Bowl at Honolulu, 7 p.m. EST (no TV).

Saturday's NFL battle in Miami matches the runners-up of the Eastern and Western Divisions, with the East's Philadelphia Eagles slightly favored over the Detroit Lions.

The Eagles won a regular season meeting between the two teams, 27-24, on a late field goal by Bobby Walston. A crowd of 35,000 is expected to turn out at the Orange Bowl to see if ace quarterback Sonny Jurgensen can lead the Philadelphians to a repeat triumph.

The Senior Bowl at Mobile brings together outstanding collegians ready to launch pro careers. The South's team will have such outstanding backs as Mike Cotten of Texas, Ronnie Bull of Baylor and Earl Gros of Louisiana State. The North will counter with a striking force which includes Ed Wilson of Arizona, Tom Larsecheid of Utah State and Steve Semmes of Rutgers.

The all-star game of the American Football League at San Diego promises to be almost a reproduction of the recent championship game in which Houston whipped San Diego. Players of these two division winners dominate the squads. Jack Kemp of San Diego and Cotton Davidson of Dallas will lead the AFL Westerners while George Blanda of Houston and Al Dorow of New York will quarterback the East.

The U.S. Bowl in Washington features draft choices of the NFL (East vs. West) in the new D.C. stadium. Both squads are loaded with potential pros.

Many of the top draft choices, however, will be thousands of miles away, playing in the Hula Bowl—well out of TV range. The Honolulu attraction grabbed off many of the college stars from the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The East squad, coached by Joe Kuharich of Notre Dame, will have Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis of Syracuse, quarterback Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State and fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, among others. The West squad, coached by UCLA's Bill Barnes, will have All-Americans Jimmy Saxton of Texas, Jerry Hillebrand of Colorado and giant tackle Merlin Olsen of Utah State.

Festive holiday decorations were used throughout the home, and the serving table in the dining room was overlaid with a lace cloth, and centered with a massive cake surrounded by holly leaves and berries. At one end of the table, Mrs. Pohl, Mrs. Book, and Mrs. Bonnette were seated. The center piece was Dorado, Arkansas, Miss Joyce Barker, also of El Dorado, was flanked by burning tapers. Mrs. George Scarpis presided over the punch bowl, while Mrs. J. T. Book served coffee at the hours of 3:30 and 10:30 p.m.

The table was centered with a festive holiday arrangement, and covers laid for Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Grant, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Squyres-Shirley Wedding Preceded By Gay Dinner In Mobile Lab

The rehearsal dinner honoring Miss Ann Shirley and Robert Squyres, prior to their wedding December 29, was given in the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Pomeroy, 1303 Speed Avenue last Thursday evening. Co-hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Templeton, and Mrs. Allen Pomeroy.

Miss Shirley is the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Shirley of Bastrop, and James Shirley of Jackson, Mississippi. Mr. Squyres, of Tillam, Oregon, is the son of Mrs. Ethel Eagles Squyres of Alexandria.

As guest arrived they were greeted by Mrs. A. W. Pomeroy and Miss Joan Templeton.

An arrangement of white angels graced a side table in the living room. Gold magnolia leaves centered with red roses and a large bride doll stood on a drop leaf table and presented the bride theme used for the party.

Miss Shirley chose a dress of white silk printed with red roses and a red velvet bodice for her party. A corsage of white camellias, a gift from her hosts, completed her ensemble.

The bride's table was centered with two memory candles surrounded by wedding rings of white camellias, encircling a bride doll complete with bouquet and train. A massive grouping of white mums, gladioli and bride's roses flanked by tall white candelabra holding white tapers graced the buffet and completed the dining room appointments.

Members of the wedding party sat with the honor guests in the dining room. Other guests were seated at two long tables in the living room which held bridesmaids dolls and matching camellias in red and pink and at coffee tables in the den. A traditional Christmas tree dominated the den. A manger scene set before a gold fan, lighted rose tree and brass candelabra holding burning tapers completed the festive decorations for the den.

Burglars Loot Safe Of Bank In Mississippi

WARDAMAN, Miss. (AP)—Burglars took between $14,000 and $18,000 in currency and coins from the bank of Vardaman Thursday night.

Bank Teller Peggy Skinner discovered the theft when she opened the building at 8:30 a.m. Friday. Officials said burglars broke through an old-fashioned glass window in the back of the bank, opened the back door and moved their equipment in. They cut open the safe with an acetylene torch.

Officers said the thieves left two bottles containing oxygen and another gas used in the cutting operation.

The bank is a branch of the Bank of Houston.

Bank officials said only a few thousand was kept most of the time, but about $12,000 had been transferred to the Vardaman bank Thursday from the main office at Houston.

Deputy sheriff Melvin Tedder said it looked like a "professional job."

SNAKE THIEF STRIKES

BERLIN (UPI)—Berlin's snake thief struck again Thursday night. Police said the thief stole nine snakes Wednesday night, eight of them poisonous, and two non-poisonous snakes Thursday night from the Berlin Zoo. Police said they believed the thief was a snake lover and an expert at handling them.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a great kiddier. Some people think he has a terrific sense of humor. Sometimes I think he goes too far.

Last week he invited me along on a business trip. At the airport we ran into some friends. One of the men in the group shouted to my husband "I see you are taking Molly along." My husband yelled loud enough for everyone in the airport to hear "Yes, I'd rather take her along than kiss her goodbye."

I felt like walking into the proppeller. For three hours I didn't speak one word to him. He said I was a lousy sport. What do "you" say? —MOLLY

Dear Molly: Your husband used very poor taste—and a very tired joke. But once the words were out of his mouth you should have laughed it off and put it out of your mind. The important thing is he "did" invite you along. This is what counts.

Dear Ann Landers: Dad and I want you to settle something. I'm 18 and my steady boy friend, Ron, is 20. Ron has invited me to go hunting with him. I'd love to but Dad says no.

Mom is dead and Dad works the night shift so I'm pretty much on my own. Ron and I have been in the house alone many times and we've always behaved ourselves. So we aren't looking for a chance to be unchaperoned.

Ron has been handling a rifle since he was nine so there's no danger of anyone getting shot. I want to go hunting with Ron for only one reason—to share the pleasure of his favorite sport. I've given you all the details. Now, please say yes. —ELIZABETH

Dear Elizabeth: You omitted the most important detail. Is this an overnight hunting trip?

If it's a daylight I say yes. If it means a night in the woods, invite your dad and make it a gleesome threesome. I can't O.K.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is a mother-in-law who is always "surprising" me with clothing which I am unable to use. Her taste is abominable. She buys dresses, handbags, scarfs, hats and assorted junk at bargain-basement sales because she thinks she's saving money. Of course nothing can be exchanged.

My mother-in-law is very kind-hearted but she works in a factory to support herself and I know she struggles to make ends meet.

Is there anything I can say or do to discourage these gifts? Whenever I see her coming with a package I die a thousand deaths. I hate to seem ungrateful, but it makes me sick. —DILEMMA

Dear Dilemma: The best approach is this: "Please don't buy clothes for me anymore. I'm awfully hard to fit. I have peculiar color preferences and my taste in general is odd. I think you're wonderful and generous but I'm just one of those nutty people who has to select everything himself."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Suzie Q." This may be "his" little red wagon but you're riding in it. Don't be a stubborn fool. Insist that he go to an accountant and get matters straightened around at once.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for "Ann Landers" booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have you read Ann Landers' new book? "Since You Ask Me" is available at all book stores at $3.50.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When the child develops a fever, a vomiting spell, a dry hacking cough or a runny nose, it is wise to consult the doctor and be on the lookout for one of the childhood diseases.

Chicken pox, mumps and measles. This is the most serious of the diseases but may be lightened if the child is given a gamma globulin shot after exposure. When it is given to other children in the family at the same time it acts as a preventive measure.

Children should be kept away from others and in the house when they show signs of illness. If they have a fever they should be kept quiet and warm, preferably in bed.

KEEP OFF FLOOR

It is not always possible to keep a child under 2 or 3 in bed all the time. He can be moved about the house (to the davenport or the high chair) but he should be kept off the floor and away from drafts.

After three years of age a child can learn to accept the necessity for "staying put," and even enjoy it a little. Doctors often say, "Keep him in bed until 24 hours after the fever is gone." This is because temperatures go up and down with medication and a child's feelings do not always reflect his condition. When the fever is up he will be drowsy and quiet but as soon as it subsides he is ready to get up and go places. Use the thermometer as the authority for such activity. This removes the personal angle and may save arguments.

The mother must have patience and be ingenious in suggesting quiet activities at this time. Have a bed tray with folding legs to be used for eating or play. If she wants to get all out for sick bed needs she may have a bed pillow, special little dishes and a box of appropriate toys for such occasions. Be sure there is a light that does not shine in the patient's eyes and a table to hold playthings and a glass of water or juice.

A QUIET GAME

When the child is restless read to him or play a quiet game. Let him listen to a radio or record player. Children can color, run cars, build houses, sew, cut out pictures or paper dolls, paste, play with dolls or animals and work jig-saw puzzles. The older child could start a stamp collection or make a model plane.

Keeping the child in bed may seem difficult but it pays dividends in shortening illness and preventing complications. Make the routine attractive but do not encourage it by allowing him to enjoy such special treatment that he wants to continue to ail.

If you're a mother, you know there are times when you must be a nurse, too. Mrs. Eldred's booklet, "When Mother Must Be Nurse," is a handy reference book to have when the child has an accident or is ill. To obtain it, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

CONGENITAL SYPHILIS

Syphilis is not a dead disease and new cases are being reported to the health department all the time. But we are seeing fewer and fewer cases of congenital syphilis because blood tests are made not only before marriage but on all pregnant women. When the result is positive, treatment is started to kill the causative micro-organisms and prevent the baby from getting worse.

▲ The following letter demonstrates certain phases of syphilis that were common years ago:

"My grandmother died from syphilis 10 years ago. About 20 years ago my mother and I had blood tests, at which time we discovered there was syphilis in the family. Altho our blood tests were positive, Mother and I never had any other indication we were infected. After several years of weekly shots and, finally, penicillin, subsequent blood tests have remained positive.

"I am now 30 years old and still have an inactive type of syphilis. I have three children whose blood tests are negative. What I am wondering now is, will my type of hereditary syphilis ever act up and cause me concern? Will my grandchildren inherit this disease from me, even tho my children have not?"

"Life has been very embarrassing for me. When I left school and applied for my first job, I got it but not until my physician wrote that I had been treated. When I got married and had children, it was the same thing over again. I've always felt stigmatized tho I realize that certain things had to be done for the welfare of everyone concerned.

"If people were as aware of syphilis and what it does to a person emotionally, as in my case, or physically as in other cases, they would be more careful. As a child I cursed my grandmother every time I had a weekly shot, without ever realizing it may not have been her fault. God help me if my grandchildren do the same to me."

The writer of the above and her mother were lucky they never developed the manifestations of the disease. The disease will not be passed along to her progeny. Enough treatment was given to kill the spirochetes. Our reader no longer has syphilis.

but the protective antibodies that remain in her blood are responsible for the positive blood tests. Additional treatment is useless because it would be aimed at the positive test and not at the disease.

LOST APPETITE

B.C.G. writes: What are the chief causes of loss of appetite?

REPLY

Anorexia (loss of appetite) is caused by a host of emotional, psychological or physical conditions. Some lose appetite when they fall in love; others, when a hair is found in the soup. Almost all of us push away the plate when we feel sick.

NEUROTIC PERSONALITY

M.E. writes: What will be the outcome of an untreated neurosis?

REPLY

An unhappy or mixed up life. It is difficult to think clearly, work efficiently, or respond normally to the demands of others when the mind is cluttered with distorted and unhealthy thoughts.

DEBRIS FROM SKIN

B.C. writes: Why is it that whenever I take a bath my skin comes off?

REPLY

Molting is not a human trait but bathing frequently removes dead skin cells. They are too small to be seen and I suspect you are talking about layers of dirt. If so, bathe more frequently.

BACK PAIN

L.L.S. writes: Is it possible to have gas pains between the shoulder blades and toward the neck? Gas—nyet; pain—yes.

Designers Show Many Soft Silhouette Varieties

By FLORENCE DE SANTIS

Designers showing today on the second day of the New York Couture Group spring collections varied widely in their approach to the new softer look. From the nearly classic look of Davidow suits to the ultra-feminism of Estevez dresses, the range took in just about every way of attaining fit and flare.

Pauline Trigere makes a strongly individual statement in terms of an elongated line which looks more fitted than it is because it is seldom belted. The line is basically princess, often tunic, but in the Trigere manner it becomes a two-part costume.

Base is a slipdress, with square neckline and shoulder straps, over which goes perhaps a sleeveless loose coat, an overblouse with triple tier of tailored ruffles, a street coat.

Dresses have many softening ideas: one sleeve, one flowing panel; cape-like shoulder extensions; draped armholes on sleeveless dresses; deeply flounced hems; ensembles of black and white prints with a reversible cape to go over both.

Although her colors follow the general spring range: red, orange, beige, white, they are softened versions. The Trigere clothes, in their cool rightness, do not color punch.

More interpretive is the Paul Parnes collection. This house has always specialized in fashions for the conservatively well-dressed woman, with the spotlight on costumes.

For spring the Parnes costumes introduce many bias cuts, with bustline darts and horizontal seams implying a high-waisted look. Hipbone jackets are front-shaped, with circular bib-like blouses spilling over the jacket necklines. Paisley prints and colors are the theme for blouses and jacket linings.

Noted for its interpretation of Chanel, the Davidow suit look for spring alters slightly in the direction of Mlle. "Coco's" newly fitted look. Skirts have a low, graceful flare, jackets are shorter, demi-fitted.

Many tweeds are used, as always with Davidow, in color combinations ranging from red mixed with blue to brown lightened with beige and white. The braid-bound Chanel suits look as fresh as if Chanel had not become a classic of our time. Notable are the white, nubby wool Chanels, with new graceful fit, braid-bound pockets and edges in navy and gold.

Wilson Folmar of Edward Abbott contrasted well with Davidow in his opposition to the classic. His is the philosophy of the little something dress, against the little nothing. He does it with a filigree such as flounced sleeves, a rich guipure blouse, a sweater dress in brightly printed chiffon, a wide capelike shoulder on a cone-shaped dress.

Wrapped midriffs are favored for the fitted look, top interest, elongates the figure. There are many little flyaway jackets over dresses, usually back-buttoned, often sheer. Backs of dresses beneath plunge to deep V's.

There is a beautiful group of linen dresses, the fabric made and embroidered in Madeira. Abbott chignons look original because they avoid the easy way of drape or flutter. Instead they flare cleanly or are box pleated. A hand-painted print of enormous pink and green stones is used for a monk's dress, rope-belted—and it's chiffon!

The Luis Estevez collection makes a strong, individualistic impression. Sleek, figure-conscious and uncluttered, his conception of fit combines loose backs with fronts belted in snugly, a wonderful look for women with good waists but hips they'd rather play down.

Jackets are cutaway to show this fitted front. The loose backs have varied interest, sometimes looking like a wide tucked-in panel, sometimes gently gathered, sometimes balloon shaped.

Estevez is always strong on color combinations. His groups emphasize pale blue and deep brown, beige and white, black and white, blue and yellow. Even in furs he carries through his themes, a black Swiss linen sheath is topped by a beige broadtail jacket.

His neckline ideas, always an Estevez strong point, include fringe edgings and rows of thick,

Space Agency Makes Public Moon Craft

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency made public Friday drawings of the Apollo spacecraft from which man may get his first close-up look at the moon.

The early model Apollo craft may enable its three-man crew to select likely landing areas for later versions designed to put human beings on the moon within this decade.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also released three drawings showing the techniques of launching a manned spacecraft into earth orbit, launching a powerful booster rocket and supply vehicle into orbit, and joining them in space for the long journey to the moon.

The huge orbiting booster rocket, starting its motors in the near vacuum of space after hooking onto the Apollo vehicle, would drop away after accelerating the Apollo to escape velocity.

The Apollo craft would proceed around the moon, come back into earth orbit, and then be slowed so as to re-enter the atmosphere and return the crew to earth.

The sketch of the Apollo showed its three occupants seated side by side in the nose cone. Officials said this was the shape that had proved—in wind tunnel studies at the space agency's Langley Field, Va., research laboratory—to be most satisfactory among a dozen different designs tested.

They said that while the astronauts would be seated for the launching, they would have a considerable amount of room in which beige, navy, deep orange, lots of white. In cocktail dresses he moves his waistline fit up to under the bosom. This line looks particularly lovely in the Sharon Alaskine which is every designer's favorite.

Loveliest of his evening gowns was a high-waisted white satin buttons and chanel-like quadsleeves and a jet-edged white greens from emerald to lime, satin stole.

to move about in flight. The roomy crew quarters were not shown in the compressed sketch. The Apollo craft will be made up of sections that can be attached as required for different missions.

Bing Crosby Has Minor Operation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Two stones were removed Friday from the left kidney of Bing Crosby in a two-hour and 20-minute operation.

Dr. Frederick Schlumberger, who performed the surgery, said it was practically the same operation he performed on the 57-year-old multimillionaire crooner in 1957.

"Bing is what we know as a stone former," the surgeon told a news conference after the operation. "And always on the left side."

The surgeon said Bing went through the operation very well and there were no complications. In reply to a newsman's question if any malignancy was found, he said, "Absolutely none."

He added Bing will be in St. John's Hospital a week or 10 days and may miss his annual Pebble Beach golf tournament.

WILL REFUND

AVERSHAM, England (UPI)—The Aversham Parish Church announced Friday that wedding parties would have to make a $1.40 deposit. It said if no confetti is thrown the $1.40 will be refunded.

$2 Million Is Allocated For Projects

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The state Bond and Building Commission allocated another $2,227,230 for additional state projects and expenses Thursday.

The money will come from the $60 million bond issue under commission control.

Among major projects approved:

$950,000 for creation of a Claiborne Parish Lake with a dam on Bayou D'Arbonne nine miles southeast of Homer.

A change order in construction plans for a new hospital at Angola, making some savings so $12,000 could be earmarked for use of glazed tile. The project total now is $703,045.

Contracts awarded include: $800,000 for a new library and equipment at Southeastern Louisiana College, Hammond, George Caldwell, Baton Rouge.

$31,000 for construction of a children's home for training of exceptional children, Leesville, S. J. Lemoine, Bunkie.

$135,885 for waterproofing exterior of main building and nurses home at New Orleans Charity Hospital, Associated Waterproofing Corp.

The commission also allocated $45,000 to Lallie Kemp Charity Hospital for linking the sewage disposal system to one planned by the town of Independence.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS

United Press International

President Lincoln sat before the open fire in the office of Quartermaster General Montgomery Meigs on Jan. 10, 1862.

"What shall I do?" he demanded of Meigs. "The people are impatient; Chase (Secretary of Treasury, Salmon P.) has no money and he tells me he can raise no more; the general of the army has typhoid fever."

"The bottom is out of the tub," Lincoln always used homely phrases to describe a situation. That was his way of dramatizing a problem. Out of an overstatement might, and often did, come a solution when several minds grappled with a problem.

The President was tossing up this one for grabs.

The bottom was not out of the tub in the sense that all was lost, but the problem was pressing in on him from all sides—from the public, from Congress, from state governors, from newspaper editors—all were clamoring for an answer to the question:

"Why was the Northern effort in the Civil War struck on dead center?"

Lincoln could not call in his general-in-chief although he had gone to his house often enough. Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan was sick. Lincoln was right, he had typhoid fever, a common enough ailment in a capital with little sanitation. Furthermore, McClellan's chief of staff (and father-in-law), Brig. Gen. R. B. Marcy, also was sick. Lincoln could not even find out who was running the Army—or even if the Army was being run. (McClellan said later that his mind remained clear during his illness and that he issued all necessary orders.)

Meigs, one of the ablest administrators in the War Department, had a suggestion for Lincoln.

The President should call a conference of higher officers to canvass the situation, Meigs said, as it appeared that McClellan might be out of the picture for some time.

Lincoln accepted the suggestion and called a meeting for that night.

Brig. Gen. Irvin McDowell, who had led the Union Army in its defeat at Bull Run (Manassas), was ordered to attend.

Brig. Gen. William B. Franklin, eral-in-chief and ask him. In fact he could not even see the gen-an Old Army man and a close associate of McClellan, was summoned from his division across the Potomac.

Chase, Secretary of State William H. Seward and Assistant Secretary of War T. A. Scott also attended—a sort of war emergency cabinet.

General Franklin described the first meeting:

"...the President was in great distress over the condition of the country. He complained that he was abused in Congress for the military inaction; that, notwithstanding the enormous amount of money that had been spent, nothing was doing East or West; that there was a general feeling of depression on account of the inaction; and that, as he expressed it, the bottom appeared to be falling out of everything."

"...He thought that he could, in a very short time, do something with the Army of the Potomac, if he were allowed to have his own way. In fact he wanted, he said, to borrow the Army of the Potomac from General McClellan for a few weeks, and wanted us to help him as to how to do it. He complained of the rise in gold, of the unreasonableness of Congress, of the virulence of the press, and, in a plain, blunt way that was touching to a degree."

Lincoln pressed Franklin for an opinion on what should be done. Reluctantly, Franklin, who knew something of McClellan's plans, said he had thought the Army of the Potomac should be transported by the "easiest and quickest route to York River, to operate against Richmond (from the southeast), leaving force enough to prevent any danger to Washington."

McDowell proposed that the army move south into Virginia against the Confederates around Manassas, the same region where he had been defeated.

Before the meeting ended, Lincoln told McDowell and Franklin to find out the earliest date the army could move.

The next evening—Jan. 11—they met again.

McDowell read a paper giving his and Franklin's views, which were that if the army was to move at once the march into Virginia would be better than the York River venture.

Postmaster General Montgomery Blair, a West Pointer, attended this meeting and opposed the overland movement into Virginia, saying another Bull Run might occur.

Again the meeting adjourned until the next day with McDowell and Franklin commissioned to check with Meigs about water transportation. (Meigs felt that a month or six weeks would be necessary to assemble enough boats.)

They met the next afternoon—Jan. 12—a Sunday, with Meigs attending. Seward started the meeting by announcing that McClellan was better—"a well man," the secretary called him. With that they adjourned again to hear McClellan the next day.

McClellan had heard what was afoot and appeared at the meeting on the 13th, pale and weak. He smelled a conspiracy against him and went to the White House in a truculent mood.

Lincoln opened this meeting by asking McDowell, McClellan's subordinate, to explain his plan for an overland advance. McDowell did so as McClellan glared.

When he finished, McClellan snapped:

"You are entitled to any opinion you please."

Lincoln pressed McClellan to say what and when something could be done.

"The case is so clear a blind man could see it," McClellan replied.

Chase also tried to get the answer but he failed, too.

The silence became oppressive before McClellan thawed enough to say he did not wish to divulge his plans but would do so if ordered.

Lincoln asked him if he had fixed a date to move. McClellan said he had. Lincoln adjourned the meeting without ordering McClellan to give the date.

The 4½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Harvey, residents of Delhi, is presently in the Delhi Clinic where she is fighting a battle for her life.

The child, Janet "Sissy", has been troubled with respiratory trouble, which included 8 or 10 cases of pneumonia, for her short life.

In and out of many hospitals in the surrounding area, she appears to be receiving little help from treatment.

She entered the Delhi Clinic Dec. 21 with a fever, lost the fever on the following day and created a hope among doctors that she would be home for Christmas. This hope was ill conceived for she developed a fever on Christmas Eve and has kept it ever since.

In a coma for the past eight days, her only source of nourishment has come from glucose which she has been receiving for the last four days.

The child's grandfather, Charley Wiley, 302 N. Main St., in Delhi, came to the Morning World office and told the above story. He added that the child's parents had exhausted their funds because of the many hospital bills which they had encountered and some of which still remained unpaid.

Wiley said that if anyone could provide financial aid in any amount and send it to his home in Delhi, he would see that every cent was used toward helping the child.
